5 UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
6 WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON
7 AT SEATTLE

8 NATHEN W. BARTON,

CASE NO. C25-5110-KKE

9 Plaintiff(s),

ORDER

v.

10 ANTHONY GEORGE, et al.,

11 Defendant(s).

12 Plaintiff, proceeding pro se, requests the Court clarify whether Defendants Anthony 13 George and AG Marketing LLC (“AG Marketing”) have filed an answer to his complaint. Dkt.
14 No. 11. The docket shows that no response to Plaintiff’s complaint has been filed.

15 Plaintiff also moves to “hold Mr. George and AG Marketing LLC in default.” Dkt. No. 11
16 at 2. Obtaining a default judgment involves a two-step process laid out in Federal Rule of Civil 17 Procedure 55. First, the plaintiff must request the Clerk of the Court to enter a default. The Clerk
18 enters the default if plaintiff makes a showing, by affidavit or otherwise, that the defendants have 19 been properly served but failed to properly respond or defend the case. Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(a).
20 Second, the plaintiff must move for default judgment. Fed. R. Civ. P. 55(b).

21 Plaintiff has not completed the first step, so the Court construes Plaintiff’s filing as a
22 request for entry of default. See Dkt. No. 11. Here, Plaintiff filed an affidavit showing that 23 Defendant Anthony George was served with the complaint on February 25, 2025. Dkt. No. 9.

1 Plaintiff also filed a second affidavit, which shows that AG Marketing was properly served through
2 its registered agent.¹ Dkt. No. 10 at 3; Fed. R. Civ. P. 4(h)(1)(A), (e)(1) (a domestic corporation
3 may be served by following state law for serving a summons); WASH. REV. CODE § 4.28.080(9);
4 see also id. § 23.95.450(1).

5 Therefore, the Court GRANTS Plaintiff's motion for entry of default and DIRECTS the 6 Clerk to enter default against Defendants Anthony George and AG Marketing.
